What has been the most challenging part of your job recently? And, have you made any changes to try and solve some of those issues? The most challenging part of my job is timing. I've got to have perfect timing in finding the businesses that are in need of our services and ready to make a change.

What have been the most important steps in your life (schools, jobs, etc.) that have led you to where you are today? I arrived at where I am today because of people. Networking and working with people is the key to growth. Never burn any bridges as you never know what someone else may be able to help you with, or how you may in turn help others.

Many people who work within the FM world have to act as 'leaders' in their jobs. What do you think makes a good leader, and have you done anything recently that has made you a leader? I am a good leader because I work along side of my team. Leading by example is everything, and if someone is not willing to get their hands dirty, their team may not trust that they can do the job either. I am not afraid to get my hands dirty to get a job done and I expect my team to have the same attitude.

A year from now, what will you have hoped to accomplish, professionally or personally? A year from now I hope to have tripled my business contacts, and to have learned even more about the industry in which I work. I hope to be more knowledgeable and successful, with my process down to an art!
